WINEMAKER NOTES

This dry Rosé, made the classic Provence-style, exhibits the clear expression of quality Cabernet juice grown in Cache Creek Vineyards. It is pure “free-run” juice that was drawn off the skins early, and then cold fermented for several weeks to capture the fresh berry and melon aromas and flavors of Cabernet Sauvignon. The result is a refreshing and crisp wine, which is perfect complement to a picnic, meal or serve as an early evening aperitif.

TASTING NOTES

A lovely pale coral color adorns the glass while tempting aromas fill the nose with fresh sliced strawberry and honeydew melon mingled with a hint of mango. The palate offers a bright key lime essence in the entry that leads into flavors of guava and white raspberry, with traces of lime zest lingering in the berry-laced finish. The perfect balance of crisp acidity and a round mouthfeel makes for a delicious sipping wine.

Enjoy with a Hamachi crudo appetizer topped with slices of Pomelo, avocado and a citrus soy dressing, or chicken satay served with peanut-coconut sauce and basmati rice.
